With traditional meeting, conference and boardroom tables, IT and AV equipment is an afterthought. At best this means a trailing power cable to a projector. At worst, though, telephones and laptops, microphones and cameras.

Flipscreen™ integrated IT conference tables make the whole presentation process slicker. Monitors may be slaves to the main projection screen or fully interactive, touch-sensitive. Cameras and microphones may be incorporated for video-conferencing, complete with lap-top connectivity, or individual PCs housed either separately in a credenza -hub, or within a central support plinth, enabling conference rooms to double as disaster recovery suites.
