Many training professionals complain that traditional training environments do little to assist in controlling delegates – ensuring their attention is held for non-IT aspects of a course.

Flipscreen™ integrated IT training tables solve these issues. IT equipment may be concealed within the furniture maintaining curriculum focus, and, by using highly engineered solutions, this can be completed by the delegate without fear of Health & Safety issues, or of damaging equipment.

This also enables alternative teaching modules, for example, psychometric profiling, to be conducted seamlessly, and within the same room.
